

Ultimate VO Survivor Takes 3

NARRATION SCRIPT (Grand Finale)

STEPPING UP TO THE MIC

Directions: We are looking for a professional read with some personality. Our talent is conversational, passionate, patient, empathetic and knowledgeable.

Before you get started, it's important to do a little prep work. Your studio is now set up, acoustically correct, you got the dog to stop barking, have the family on mute and you're ready to hit record. So, let's begin right? Well, perhaps there are a few things you haven't considered! One of the first steps is feeling confident about your equipment and what it can do for you.

The microphone is an instrument that not only captures your voice, it also translates all your thoughts, experiences, and emotions. Think of it as the ear of your listener. We can change the tone and volume by pulling away from or moving into the mic, creating mood. By understanding mic dynamics and truly engaging with your story, you are able to seduce, inform, persuade and connect to your audience.

Don't be afraid to use your body to help tell the story. But remember, the mic picks up everything, from leather pants, to jangling jewelry, to hangry stomach growls! So be sure the only relationship the microphone has is with your Gorgeous Voice. Now it's time to play, so get your hands out of those pockets and let's make some Noise!
